FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What happens during a House Call?

A teleconsultation may take place prior to the house call for the doctor to get an understanding of what the patient is experiencing. The doctor will then turn up at the patient's residence at the agreed time, and a general consultation and examination will take place. After assessment and diagnosis, the doctor will dispense the appropriate medication or conduct the simple medical procedure, if required.

How long do I have to wait for the doctor to show up?

Upon contacting us, please allow our clinic some time to arrange for the earliest possible slot for the teleconsultation and actual visit. We will try our best to schedule everything within the day.

Will there be a chaperone during the doctor's house call visit?

Yes, there will be a chaperone to accompany our doctor for the house call visit.

The condition I'm experiencing is not found in the list. Can I still book a House Call Doctor?
